

A
Sprouting
Bean

By _____

A bean seed will soon grow and become a bean plant.

The first root (called the radicle) pokes through the seed coat and grows downward.

The root grows and the part near the seed pokes through the soil - it will be the stem.

The first true leaves emerge from between the cotyledons.

The stem straightens out and the shoot sprouts leaves.

A Sprouting Bean

By _____

A bean seed will soon grow and become a bean plant.

The first root (called the radicle) pokes through the seed coat and grows downward.

The root grows and the part near the seed pokes through the soil - it will be the stem.

The first true leaves emerge from between the cotyledons.

The stem straightens out and the shoot sprouts leaves.

